Bark! Bark! I am Zoey, the puppy. I had fun eating my owner's homework, let me tell you how it went. People expect me to be elegant and lovely but shhhhhhhhhhh! I am the opposite. Please Keep it a secret. I have a sweet tooth. For some reason whenever my owner comes back from school and leaves her homework along with candies on the desk I always get the temptation to eat it. I did get a chance to eat the homework after a long wait, but unfortunately, my stomach didn't like it and it was a disaster when the owner came to know about it.

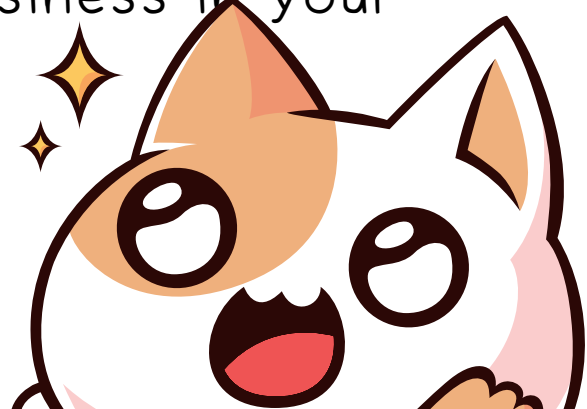

My owner Ellie came back from school and laid a piece of paper on the table.

It was her Maths, ELA, and science homework. As usual, it had jelly beans on it. I Knew as soon as I saw it I had to eat it but Ellie was right next to it and I didn't want her to see me eating her precious homework. I had to wait and wait until she went to take a shower. But what! She was back in just two minutes. Did she even clean herself properly? I jumped back to my cozy bed looking for a chance. It was a long, long, long wait. She just wouldn't budge, not even a single moment. She was sitting right next to it on the couch watching her favorite TV show. I felt like either I am impatient or time it against me. I was getting restless from eating the homework with jelly beans all over it. I could hear the stove sizzling and the microwave talking like never before as if they were mocking me.

Soon, I heard the click sound. Ellie turned off the TV and went to her room. Her mom was busy wrapping up the Kitchen. The paper was right there saying my name over and over again. "Wow, I can't believe it is already 10:00 P.M. I am so tired but hungry. I want to eat that homework. It looks like this paper is Ellie's test practice in math. Oh well...." Crunch Crunch the sound was so loud I could hardly hear me eating. Then I saw another paper and it was an English study guide. I was chewing it with a loud chap sound, it was so loud the neighbor's dog Rufus, my friend could hear me (He is a Havanese). Suddenly my owner came out of her room to get some water. I dashed to my bed only leaving her science study guide. "Zoey, do you know where my Ela and math study guide went?" "No, not at all, ask Rufus!" I said I was worried, "But Rufus is our neighbor's dog." BARK BARK! "Hey, Rufus said that you ate it and that you were so loud Canada could hear you." BARK BARK BARK BARK! "And he says that today when Zoey and Rufus had a playdate we did our business in your shoe."

Then my stomach felt like it was called from heaven. My stomach hurts so bad.

"Aaawwwww!" I yell, "What's wrong?" Ellie said worriedly. "Those homework pages are not settling well carry me to the restroom." I say, "Zoey you are so heavy I mean what will I tell Mrs. Where your house key she will be so mad because my dog ate my homework that's a common excuse just why Zoey why?" Ellie said, "Sorry it was just calling my name over and over I couldn't resist." I said with urgency, "I am sorry it just felt right smothered in peanut butter, and with the jellybeans and for your English study guide, I put it in the panini press and turned it into a sandwich. For your science study guide, I was going to turn it into a taco and put it in sweet and sour sauce and boom yummy." Zoey said.

Then a Knock on the door came Ellie ran and opened the door and out came Decster (Ellies Crush). Then I came to save the day by chasing away Decster so Ellie wouldn't get hypnotized by his- his well I don't know what she sees in him. " Hey I have a copy of the homework assignment and since you have a puppy well because so I thought you would need it." " Thanks, Dec," then I jump and try to grab it but Ellie was too high. " You win this round Ellie next will be mine," I say while I walk away, then I get ahead and start a BARK, BARK, BARK. Another win for Boya.

IN ANOTHER

Pitter-patter! I heard it started raining suddenly as I was sitting next to the window reading my book, Tales of the Mouse. I felt a little chilly, so I went to my closet to get a jacket. Whoops! When I opened the closet door, I saw a portal! I jumped out of fear. And before I could realize I was inside the portal. I looked around and looked at my hands. I was a squirrel! A cold squirrel. I was shivering and my teeth were chattering. I collected sticks and dry branches and wondered if I could build a house with them. It was cold so I needed blankets. I had no blankets.

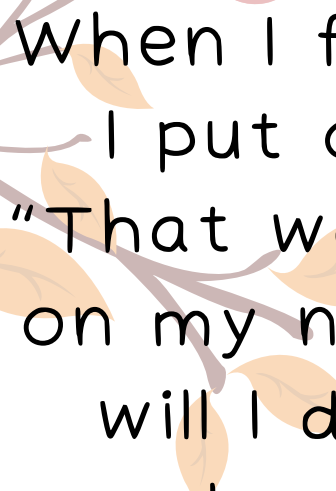

Then I saw a scarecrow and the clothes on it looked so soft. I ran and took the clothes and dashed back to my house made out of sticks.

I did the same thing every day for a month. The owners of the scarecrow kept putting on clothes but then got sick of putting them on and had an idea. She put a camera on the clothing to see who was taking it. Next day, "ohhh! More clothing Yay! Yay!" I said. I ran and took it quickly. The wife looked at the camera and saw me and now she put up a fence.

"How am I going to get over that fence now!" I said I was thinking and thinking, I saw, "Hiring now", a board hanging in front of the lady's house. Then an idea hit me suddenly, "I needed a disguise." Then I looked around and found lots of leaves and branches. "Wow! I can make a costume." I took some leaves and sharp branches and here comes a perfect outfit. "OK, OK how am I going to get around that fence? Maybe I can shimmy up there or a catapult?" I said. I built a catapult.

When I finished building my catapult
I put on my harness and BOOM!
"That was a bad idea." I literally fell on my nose. "That hurts, now what will I do?" And to my surprise, a mole digs his way out under the fence. I used the same channel and worked my way through it.

But I am hungry now, and I want to go home. I dashed back to the portal. I am glad I am back home. It is not a joke to be a squirrel.
